Home Economic News

The Mary Swartz Rose Club of the Appomattox High School held its regular club meeting in the cottage Wednesday, Nov. 26, during the club activity period.

The Juniors home economics girls had charge of the program. Ruth Morris gave a talk on "The Origin of Thanksgiving", followed by a reading by Neola Barlow and the devotional exercise was conducted by Katherine Lucado.

The last number on the program was an attractive stunt "My Lady of Advertisement" by Edith Robertson, Neola Barlow, Weselyn Young, Clarkie Evans, Eloise O'Brien and Hazel Moon. A brief business meeting was held and the finance committee reported the purchase of a $40 State Aid Library. Plans were made to serve a mother and daughter christmas luncheon Dec. 17.

The Home Economic girls have charge of the tuberculosis stamp sale in the school again this year. They have set $25 for their goal. The school children are asked to buy stamps instead of selling as has been previously done.

The cottage this year is being run on a budget system. At present the advance class in home economics is working on a plan to determine the exact cost of living expenses. A comparison is being made of the living expenses in the different localities of the country

LIGHTS of NEW YORK
By WALTER TRUMBULL

George, famous headwaiter at the Algonquin, came to New York from one of the happy isles of Greece, by way of Constantinople. George is acquainted with practically everyone who enters his dining room, so when Frank Case, owner of the hotel, saw a man eating there one day whom he never had seen before, he asked George the customer's name. George replied that he was Mr. Soandso.

"What does he do?" demanded Mr. Case.

"He writes books," replied George.

"What kind of books?" said Mr. Case. This stumped George, but only for a moment.

"Just books," he said, with a finality which closed the subject.

* * *

Frank Case was motoring in Hollywood, a while ago, and stopped to ask his way.

"Just go up that road until you come to a house that looks as if Eddie Foy lived in it and then take the first left turn," said the citizen who was directing him.

"Did Eddie Foy ever live there?" asked Mr. Case.

"No," said the man, "it just looks as if he did."

Mr. Case followed directions and found his way without difficulty.

* * *

James Montgomery Flagg was driving down Long Island to visit friends at East Hampton. He also lost his way, but finally arrived, in a state of some indignation.

"They should find some other name for these Long Island towns," he said. "Hampton gets a little wearing. I've been in South Hampton, West Hampton, and Hampton Bays. Now I'm here in East Hampton. The fact is that I have visited all the Hamptons, except Ben Hampton and Walter Hampton."

* * *

Most visitors to New York, including the prince of Wales, manage at one time or another to get to Long Island, which is a body of land entirely surrounded by history. That this history goes further back than the formation of the United States is attested by the fact that the north end of the island was built by deposits along the front of the continental glacier. Birds from the arctic and the tropics visit its shores. Indian tribes gave their names to the island's towns. There is, for example, Montauk, Shinnecock, Manhasset, Patchogue, Canarsie—they sound like Scotch Indians —Setauket, which took its name from the Sealcoat tribe, and towns derived from the Nessaquogues. There also are Dutch towns, such as Flatbush, which originally was Vlackte-Bosch, and Brooklyn, which once was Breuckelen. Bushwick, first settled by Swedes and Norwegians, once was Boswijck. Hempstead, the Hamptons, Hastings, Brookhaven and Oyster Bay, of course, were English. Other towns, such as Rockaway and Blue Point, gave their names to oysters.

* * *

Long Island always has been a great place for artists and writers. Take, for instance, the town of Bellport, named for that old sea captain and ship builder, Thomas Bell. There, at various times have lived Mary Roberts Rinehart, Walter and Louise Closser Hale, James and May Wilson Preston, P. G. Wodehouse, Heywood Broun, Ernest Lawson, William J. Glackens and Everett Shinn. Such actors as Harry Warner and Ernest Lawford have resided there. Elmer Sperry, of gyroscopic fame, lived there. Bernard Baruch spent some time there. So did Arthur M. Hopkins. This well-known producer now has a summer home at Great Neck, where he can cast any play merely by calling the names of actors from the porch of the golf club.

Out toward the further end of the island, at Easthampton, you will find homes belonging to Irvin S. Cobb, Ring Lardner, Percy Hammond, and Grantland Rice. Arthur William Brown has a place there this summer, and here at Easthampton was the house where John Drew lived for so many years. I used to sit on his porch with him while he told me stories of how, when he was young, he used to school horses to jump in the adjoining lot.

* * *

It was at Easthampton, the other day, that Kent Cooper, Bruce Barton, John N. Wheeler and Deak Aylesworth were playing bridge, when Irvin S. Cobb entered. They asked him if he wished to cut in.

"No," said Mr. Cobb, "I don't play bridge; but my wife plays so much I think she has been appointed a delegate to the Vanderbilt convention."

Old Jefferson Clock Again Performs Duty

Richmond, Va.—The famous clock over the entrance to Monticello, the home of Thomas Jefferson, is running again, after being out of order for many years.

The clock has a double face, the hour being read both from the hall and from the terrace. Far out of the grounds, striking of the hour can now be heard as it was in Jefferson's time.

Among the recent sightseers was a jeweler who offered to put the clock in condition at his own expense. Because of his interest and labor this ancient timepiece once again performs its allotted duty.

Gol[illegible] Rule Sunda Will Be Observed

Golden Rule Sunday [illegible] between the [illegible] as a thank-offering for the [illegible] pression of ideal sympathy [illegible] practical help for hungry, neglected, orphaned, and underprivileged children of the world, has been so successful as a practical expression of world-wide philanthropy, that it is being expanded this year to Golden Rule Week, which will be observed all over America ,from December 7th to 14.

On Golden Rule Sunday, Dec 14, American homes are being asked to partake of a frugal meal, instead of the usual bountiful Sunday dinner, and to contribute at least this savings, or more, toward the relief of hunger, suffering, and need among the world's unfortunate. Sponsoring this nationwide observance of Golden Rule Week is the Golden Rule Foundation, with national headquarters in the Lincoln Building, 60 East 42nd Street, New York, and incorporated to supply the Golden Rule in practical ways for the alleviation of suffering and to promote the welfare of man kind throughout the world. Its immediate program, according to its official announcement centers on underprivileged children in America and many other parts of the world.

LADY FINGERS

Three Gates

When you are tempted to reveal A tale someone to you has told,
Think about another, make it pass Before you speak, three gates of gold;

Three narrow gates-first, "is it true?"
Then "is it needful?" in your mind
Give truthful answer, and the next
Is the last and narrowest: Is it kind?"

And if to reach your lips at last It passes through these gate ways three,
Then you say tell nor fear
What the result of speech may be.

Good things to Eat and How to Make Them
Sally Lunn

1 egg cake
2 cups milk, scalded and cooled
1 tablespoon sugar
2 tablespoons butter, melted
4 cups sifted flour
2 eggs
1 teaspoon salt
Dissolve yeast and sugar in lukewarm milk. Add butter, flour, eggs well beaten, and the salt. Beat until perfectly smooth. Pour into well greased pans. Cover and let rise in a warm place, free from draught, until double in bulk. Bake one and one-half hours. Sprinkle one tablespoon granulated sugar over top and bake twenty minutes in hot oven. This recipe will fill two medium size pans. Sally Lunn should always be broken apart with a fork.

Frozen Pineapple Custard

Beat the yolks of three eggs with a cup of sugar, stir into a pint of milk, and cook until it thickens, stirring constantly. When cool, add a cup of cream, the beaten whites of the eggs, and a small can of pineapple (grated). Freeze.

Thought for Week

Hope

Did anything but hope carry Washington thru that cold, cold winter at Valley Forge? And if he and his men hadn't felt that their cause was just and that American independence was possible, the war of the Revolution would have never have been fought.

Do you feel that your goal and kindred success is possible? In spite of seeming impossible odds and the many misfortunes of today, are you able to look into the future courageously?

Hope means to do just that. If we can learn to look upon our discouraging experience and troubles as only temporary set backs, we will profit by them in the future.

Hope is indeed the spark that makes success out of many failures.

Bilious, Dizzy, Drowsy Feeling

"When I was a child, if I did not feel well, or if I had a cold, my mother gave me Black-Draught," says Mrs. Orpha Hill, of Wofford, Ky. "When I was married, it became a family medicine in my own home, as it was in my mother's.

"I take it for headache and especially for constipation. When I get bilious, my skin gets yellow and I have a very bad taste in my mouth, and a drowsy feeling all during the day. My eyes burn and I get dizzy, or my head is 'swimming.' When I take Black-Draught, it seems to drive the impurities out of my system and I feel fine. I am seldom without this reliable remedy."
